

ISMOS⁶

6th International Symposium on Applied Microbiology and Molecular Biology in Oil Systems (ISMOS-6)

As a leading scientific conference discussing the application of micro and molecular biology for solving production problems in oil field systems, ISMOS-6 is the ideal venue for energy and service companies to: learn about the latest technology applications, establish valuable collaborations, promote their newest products and services, and to demonstrate to the public that energy companies are exploring all possible avenues to ensure that energy extraction is conducted in a sustainable manner.

Sponsorship Levels:

Platinum (more than $10,000 USD): At the platinum level, sponsors receive space for a display booth, prominent signage at the conference, recognition on the conference webpage, recognition in any printed material, and verbal recognition during the conference. A platinum sponsor will have the opportunity to sponsor the opening reception, where they will receive verbal and written recognition during the reception and have the opportunity to display their company logo and information. Platinum sponsors will also receive 3 free registrations, including meals, to attend all 3 days of the conference.

Gold (more than $6,000 USD): At the gold level, sponsors receive space for a prominent signage at the conference, recognition on the conference webpage, recognition in any printed material, and verbal recognition during the conference. Gold sponsors will have the opportunity to sponsor the best poster competition or a coffee or lunch break, where they can display company information. Gold sponsors will also receive 2 free registration, including meals, to attend all 3 days of the conference.

Silver (more than $4,500): At the silver level, sponsors receive space for a prominent signage at the conference, recognition on the conference webpage, recognition in any printed material, and verbal recognition during the conference. Silver sponsors will also receive 1 free registration, including meals, to attend all 3 days of the conference.

Bronze (more than $2,500): At the bronze level, sponsors will receive recognition on the conference webpage, recognition in any printed material, and verbal recognition during the conference.
